If your young person will live more independently, start the placement as soon as possible and keep note of what you and your young person are looking for, what you like and what you don't like.

What you should think about during the Supported Living/Residential Home placement process:

- Will the placement be able to fully meet the needs of your young person?
- Did you meet and speak to the Care Manager of the placement?
- What therapeutic services, activities, outings and holidays are on offer?
- What is the local area like and is it suitable?
- How far away is the placement and will you be able to visit as often as you like?
- Who provides the funding for the placement?
- Speak to other parent carers who have been through the same process and if possible speak to the families of those who currently live in the placement that you are considering.
